++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mainly dry on Monday with some bright spells.

Today:
A mostly dry and bright day with some sunny spells possible, though more especially over Lanarkshire and to east of Glasgow. However, cloudier around the west coast and over the islands, perhaps with a little light rain. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Mostly dry and bright end to the day, but cloud and rain will spill in from northwest through the evening, with some heavier outbreaks overnight, especially over Argyll and Ayrshire. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tuesday:
Cloudy and colder day with outbreaks of mainly light rain, but gradually fizzling out through the afternoon and evening as winds turn north or northwest. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
High pressure building across Scotland bringing dry and bright weather with some sunshine. Mainly light winds and still feeling quite warm in sunshine, but cooler, with risk of night frosts.
